Public Invited To Art Exhibit, Concert of Joint Vaad, Carleton, CBC Conference

An international conference sponsored by the Jewish Community Council of Ottawa, Carleton University and the CBC, on Biblical Studies will take place at Carleton University, October 25-27.

The conference, Biblical Literature: Rabbinic and Modern Perspectives, has been organized by Professors Eugene Rothman and Robert Polzin of Carleton University. Rabbinic scholars, biblical historians and literary critics from across North America and Israel will discuss the Bible as a Jewish religious work, an historical document, and as great literature.

The conference will begin on Tuesday evening, October 25. The public opening, will be at 8:00 p.m., with an art exhibit, The Illustrated Bible.

The exhibit arranged by the Carleton Library and Fine Arts Committee in cooperation with the National Gallery of Canada, will consist of Old Master prints and facsimile drawings and illustrated Bibles. Prints and copies of drawings by artists, such as Rembrandt, Durer and Cranach, will trace the Bible from Adam and Eve through the Exile of Israel. There will also be a display of illustrated Bibles from the earliest illuminated manuscripts, the Golden Haggadah, the Gutenberg Bible, William Blake's drawings and Chagall's illustrations. The exhibit will be open to the public in the Foyer of Carleton University's Tory Building from 8:00 p.m. Tuesday, October 25, until 8 p.m.

Thursday, October 27.

The opening ceremonies will be followed by a public lecture in the Tory Theatre at 8:30 p.m. The topic is the rabbinic view of the Bible and will be given by Professor Kalman Bland of Duke University.

The final public event, will be the concert, A Joyful Sound, produced by the CBC. This concert, an historical review of the Bible in music featuring internationally prominent artists Clarice Carson, soprano, Gabrielle Lavigne, mezzo, Seth McCoy, tenor, and Donald Bell, baritone, will take place at Carleton University's Alumni Theatre, Southam Hall, at 8:30 p.m., Wednesday, October 26. Selections will be sung from the works of Vivaldi, Bach, Handel, Dvorak and Leonard Bernstein. The concert will be broadcast nation-wide on CBC radio.

A limited number of tickets, at $2.00, will be available at the CBC studios, 250 Lanark Avenue, the CBC Offices, 7th floor, Chateau Laurier, the Office of Continuing Education, Carleton's Administration Building; and at the Jewish Community Centre.

Foundation Receives $60,000 Contribution

The Jewish Community of Ottawa has become the beneficiary of a $60,000. contribution from the members of the Montefiore Club of Ottawa. The gift represents the proceeds of the sale of the Montefiore Club building at Gilmour and Cartier Streets, after paying the mortgage, bank loan and outstanding accounts as at June 30, 1977.

accepted by Gilbert Greenberg, President of the Vaad for the Ottawa Jewish Community Endowment & Bequest Foundation which will act as trustee for the Jewish community.

A segregated fund, to be known as "The Montefiore Club Foundation" was established immediately on receipt of the funds. It will be a part of and administered by the Ottawa Jewish Community Endowment & Bequest Foundation. The Montefiore Club Foundation brings the total number of Funds under Endowment and Bequest Foundation jurisdiction to twenty-five.

The $60,000. which created the Montefiore Club Foundation has been designated as capital. The principal has been invested and the income will be used to benefit the Jewish community in perpetuity.

In his remarks to the Board of Trustees, Mr. Cohen paid tribute to the late Bernard Sanders who founded the Montefiore Club in 1947 and who was its president and guiding spirit for many years. "If Bernie were alive today", said Mr. Cohen, "he would be pleased that the Club he started for the members of the community should, when no longer required, continue to benefit the community in such a tangible way in the future."

The cheque was officially presented at the first meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Jewish Community Council on September 29 by Alex Cohen on behalf of all of the members of the Montefiore Club, both past and present. It was

Mr. Cohen also credited Harry Koffman with the idea that the capital be turned over to the community. "It was most gratifying" he continued, "that the members of the Montefiore Club voted unanimously in favour of this recommendation."

Mr. Cohen ended his remarks by stating that "on behalf of all of the members of the Montefiore Club, both past and present, please accept this gift to the Endowment & Bequest Foundation. It is their hope that the income will be used in any way the Allocations Committee sees fit to serve a useful purpose in our community."

By way of response, Mr. Greenberg thanked the members of the Montefiore Club for their generosity. He called the contribution "a fine gesture" and "an act of responsibility on the part of the remaining members which flowed from a feeling that the continued existence of an active Jewish community is important." Mr. Greenberg went on to stress the significance of the gift in relation to the total capital of the Endowment & Bequest Foundation, roughly 20 per cent at the present time. He regards endowment and bequest monies as a critical component in the future funding of community services and expressed the hope that the Montefiore example will stimulate others to do the same.

Mr. Greenberg concluded by thanking Andy Cohen, Harry Koffman, Larry Arron, Norman Loeb, Norman Zagerman and others for their part in the negotiations when it became apparent that the Montefiore Club could no longer continue to function as a viable entity because of the decline in membership.

He also singled out Morton Taller, Chairman of the Management Committee as well as Charles Baker and Gordon Spengel, and expressed appreciation to them for having worked for some two years to see if new interest could be aroused in the Club. Finally, he thanked Norman Zagerman for handling the transaction for the Vaad and Hyman Soloway and Irving Greenberg for the legal work associated with the sale of the property.

A certificate is to be sent to Montefiore Club members expressing the community's appreciation for their participation in the establishment of the Montefiore Club Foundation.

More Effective Use of Board of Trustees

In accordance with the recommendation I reported to you in this column on July 29, the Board of Trustees of the Vaad held its first monthly meeting of the 1977 administration on September 29. It was an interesting meeting and I think those who were present will agree that they felt involved in the discussions which took place and the decisions which had to be made. That is precisely the object of the exercise. The officers have taken the position that there must be a greater sense of participation in the decision-making process and we seem to be on the right track.

Until now, we functioned with a three-tiered form of communal government. The six elected Officers met at least once a month. An Executive Committee of thirty, including the Chairmen of Standing Committees, assembled ten times a year. And finally, the Board of Trustees, numbering just over one hundred, gathered twice a year. The change we proposed and which was approved on September 29, provides for an increase in the Officers from six to eleven and combined meetings of the Executive and Board of Trustees each month.

The Officers will be getting together on the second Wednesday of each month; the Board of Trustees on the fourth Wednesday of each month beginning at 7:30 p.m. The next meeting is on October 26. Anyone in the community who wishes to attend meetings of Trustees will be welcomed. All take place at the Jewish Community Centre.

The make-up of the Board of Trustees provides for board community representation. To begin with, delegates are appointed from each Synagogue based on membership. Thus, Beth Shalom names six, Agudath Israel four, Machzikei Hadas three, Temple Israel and Young Israel two each. All five Rabbis sit on the Board. Each of thirty-four organizations as well as twelve U.J.A. beneficiary agencies designate one Trustee. There is provision for four students and two young adults.

Thirty Trustees are elected from the community at large. All past presidents of the Vaad, of which eleven still live in the city, are entitled to seats. And finally, the six elected Officers bring the total aggregate to one hundred and twenty-one. Since the Synagogues and organizations are represented by their senior officers, the Vaad can truly be seen as the assembly of over-all community leadership at the highest level. One-third of this group constitutes a quorum at meetings.

The formal agenda of our September meeting included a report from me on developments since the Annual Meeting on June 27; appointment of committee chairmen; and reports on the United Jewish Appeal, State of the Israel Bond Drive, Jewish Social Services Council, Ottawa Talmud Torah Board, Ottawa Modern Jewish School, Temple Israel Religious School, Brundibar Children's Opera, Council on Adult Jewish Education and the United Israel Appeal of Canada Annual Meeting.

We also had a useful discussion on the changes in structure we advocated including ways and means of stimulating more involvement. What came through loud and clear was the feeling that the Trustees are not satisfied merely to rubber stamp decisions but to become active participants in the program, activities and policy-making function of the Vaad.

The Officers welcome such interest and will be meeting shortly to determine how this objective can be better implemented. There are literally hundreds of people already involved in organizational activities of one kind or another, including the Vaad, but the ultimate goal must always be a better, more active and committed Jewish community in which every individual member feels he has a useful role to play. I will keep you posted on how we make out.

Visit from Public Service Group

An invited group from the Public Service Division of the United Jewish Appeal met with the Officers recently respecting increased participation of Jewish civil servants and their families in the organized Jewish community. There is a valuable pool of talent in that group which is under-used and many still feel apart from the community although some have been here for several years.

We had a useful discussion and asked the three invited guests (Gdalyah Rosenfeld, David Jacobs and Dr. Abe Tarasofsky, together with Hy Calof who was out of the city at the time) to form themselves into an ad hoc committee with the power to add, which would seek to identify ways and means of effecting greater involvement on the part of the public service population of the Jewish community. We are to have a report from this ad hoc committee by the beginning of November.

This is one of the steps the Board is taking to have all parts of the community become more actively involved.

Dream or Reality Israeli Prof. Probes Zionism

Dr. Norman Rose

Dr. Norman A. Rose visiting professor at Carleton University, Department of History, is to give his first public lecture in Ottawa on Tuesday, October 18. Dr. Rose is here for one year under the auspices of the Canada-Israel Foundation for Academic Exchanges.

Born and educated in England, Norman Rose emigrated to Israel in 1953 and settled on Kibbutz Zikim. He later met his wife, Zella, who had come to Zikim as part of her Nahal service. In 1959 he was sent to Manchester, England, as a Zionist youth movement shaliach.

After completion of three years of shlichuth, Dr. and Mrs. Rose moved to London. Dr. Rose joined the London School of Economics and Mrs. Rose studied television production and taught modern ballet. In 1968 Prof. Rose received his doctorate in international affairs. They then returned to Israel with their English-born daughter, Inbal. Mrs. Rose became one of the founding members of Israel Television, working on general as well as children's programming and last year she won the Israel Television Award for the best children's program.

Professor Rose taught at Haifa University and then moved to the Hebrew University where he is now Professor of International Affairs. He has published several works including The Gentile Zionists, a history of Anglo-Zionist diplomacy; editorship of the diaries of Blanche Dugdale, the niece, confidante and biographer of Lord Balfour, which appeared under the title Baffy, to which Dr. Rose wrote the Introduction; and editorship of several of the volumes of The Weizmann Papers.

On Tuesday, October 18, Professor Rose will speak about one of the major challenges confronting Jews in Israel and the diaspora — Zionism: Dream or Reality. The lecture, sponsored by the Jewish Students Union, will be held in the Herzberg Building, Room 356, Carleton University, at 8:30 p.m. Members of the community are cordially invited to attend. There is no charge.

Quest Returns

This year, Quest is again returning to CTV with Rabbi Reuven Bulka as one of its hosts.

On Sunday, October 16, Rabbi Bulka will have as his guest, Arthur Cogan, well-known Ottawa lawyer.

Tune in at 1:30 p.m. to CJOH-TV for Quest on the following Sundays with Rabbi Bulka.

On Endowments & Bequests

by Arthur B. C. Drache

Chairman, Professional Advisers Committee

This column marks the first of a series written by members of the professional advisors committee of the Ottawa Jewish Community and Bequest Foundation dealing with matters relating to taxation and charity.

The Foundation itself was created in 1973 as a vehicle for accumulating capital funds for the purposes of the Jewish community of Ottawa. It now has assets of several hundreds of thousands of dollars and annually distributes thousands of dollars of income to communal organizations.

The Foundation is designed to provide a sophisticated method by which donors can benefit the community, honour the living, perpetuate the memories of loved ones and reap maximum tax benefits.

The Foundation itself does not have annual campaigns. Rather it is constantly seeking commitments of funds of a capital nature, which if left in a will, need not be paid for many years to come. The nature of the funds solicited varies from those sought in other local campaigns in that the other campaigns usually are looking for working funds to support activities in the coming year, while the Foundation has as one of its main goals, the accumulation of a large capital sum.

In the future, this capital sum will hopefully produce income sufficient to relieve the community of many of its annual income needs.

In addition to being run by the traditional Board of Directors and Officers, the Foundation has put together a group known as the Professional Advisers Committee, of which I am the chairman for 1977-78. This is a group of lawyers and accountants who have specialized knowledge of tax matters, especially as they relate to charities and charitable donations. This committee is available to give advice to other lawyers and accountants about matters relating to the tax elements of charitable donations. Special emphasis will be placed on the tax benefits which can be achieved by making gifts to the Foundation. Advice will be tailored to the specific needs of the potential donor.

The committee will also pursue a number of other goals. It will be sponsoring a seminar on the taxation of charities which will be open to all professional advisers in Ottawa, both Jewish and non-Jewish. This seminar will take place in December. The committee has also tentatively agreed to conduct a seminar for lay people on aspects of Financial Planning, similar to the very successful programme which was run at the Community Centre last year.

And, of course, the committee members will be contributing a column on tax matters regularly to the Bulletin.

Members of the community who wish to contact the committee for any reason may do so through the Foundation, which is located at the J.C.C. If you have questions which might be answered in these columns, they too can be sent care of the Foundation.

All members of the professional advisors committee look forward to helping out members of the community who are potential donors in any way possible.

Draw Seniors Into Community Services to the Elderly Aim Says Co-ordinator Lisa Garman

The appointment of Lisa Barman as Co-ordinator of Services for the Jewish Elderly has been announced by Mrs. Jacquelin Holzman, Chairman of the Jewish Social Services Council.

The program, which began September 1, will be offering a range of services for senior citizens of the Jewish community. Initially, the priority will be on firendly visiting through other services such as home help, transportation, meals on wheels, wheels to meals, counselling and others will be phased in over a period of time.

Mrs. Garman holds a Master's Degree in Applied Psychology from the University of Toronto and is an Associate of the Royal Conservatory of Music of Toronto (A.R.C.T. in piano performance). She attended a Talmud Torah in Toronto and also speaks Hebrew and Yiddish.

Her office is in the Jewish Community Centre at 151 Chapel Street. If you would like to volunteer or to suggest senior citizens who may need help or companionship, please phone her at 232-7306, extension 37.

Fete Jack Smith at Bond Dinner Nov. 13 For Tireless Shul Efforts

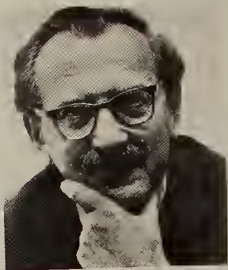

Jack Smith, one of the Congregation Machzikei Hadas' outstanding workers and fund-raisers will be honoured by the Congregation at a Tribute Dinner on behalf of Israel Bonds on Sunday evening, November 13, it was announced by Harry Rosenberg, President of the Congregation and Arnon Miller, Israel Bond Chairman.

The testimonial dinner to be held at the Congregation will honour Jack for his tireless efforts to raise funds for the Shul and his devotion to strengthening the Congregation. Through his efforts a large portion of the funds needed to build and maintain the Shul have been realized. Recently Jack shed 100 pounds through strenuous diet and with support from many members of the community, raised a substantial sum for the congregation.

William Frankel, editor of the Near East department of the London Times, and an outstanding authority on contemporary Jewish history and international affairs, will be guest speaker at the Testimonial Dinner.

Prior to his appointment to his present post in 1977, Mr. Frankel served as the editor of the prestigious Jewish Chronicle from 1958 to 1976, and before that he was general manager of the newspaper from 1955 to 1958.

Among Mr. Frankel's numerous other activities, he has written articles in leading newspapers and periodicals, and is editor of William Frankel, guest speaker.

"Friday Nights," published in 1973.

He has made regular appearances on B.B.C. radio and television as a commentator on International Affairs and has frequently lectured on British Law, contemporary Jewish history and Middle East affairs in the United States. From 1968 to 1969, he was a Visiting Professor at the Jewish Theological Seminary of America in New York.

He was a Justice of the Peace for the County of London from 1963 to 1969.

The recipient of many honours, he was created a Commander of the Order of the British Empire by Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth, in the New Year's Honours of 1970.

Reservations to the dinner, at $15.00 per person, may be made at Machzikei Hadas Congregation, 2310 Virginia Drive, K1H 6S2, 521-

Jack Smith, Dinner honouree.

9700, or at the Israel Bond Office, 168 Charlotte St No. 504, 236-7139.

The Israel Bond Organization has since 1951 channeled more than $3.5 billion into every major aspect of Israel's economy. The Israel Government has already repaid more than $1.5 billion of the Bonds sold in the United States, Canada, Western Europe and other parts of the free world.

In a year of economic stress, Israel looks to the Israel Bond program to help increase export production to reduce its enormous balance of payments deficit, to promote an intensive search for new sources of energy to free it from almost total dependence on imported oil and to provide for the further development of Jerusalem, which is this year celebrating the tenth anniversary of its reunification during the Six Day War.

Duo-Pianists Choose Varied Program for NAC

Following the success of the art exhibit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cogan on September 25, the Ottawa CICC is now devoting its efforts to support the National Arts Centre Concert by Israeli Duo Pianists Bracha Eden and Alexander Tamir.

On Sunday evening, October 23, Eden & Tamir will appear at the Theatre of the NAC at 8:00 p.m. They have chosen a most varied Program:

Mozart: Sonata in D
Brahms: Variation on a Theme by Haydn
Alexander: Six Israeli Dances
Saint-Saens: Variations on a Theme by Beethoven

Lutoslawski: Variations on a Theme by Paganini
Dvorak: Slavonic Dances

A private Reception to meet Eden & Tamir over Coffee will be held in the Salon following the Concert for CICC members, their children and guests. Membership is $5. per year and may be obtained by contacting Myrna Barwin.

The Canada-Israel Cultural Foundation has obtained a bloc of tickets for choice seats from the NAC box office.

Concert Tickets are $4, $5, and $6, and may be purchased by phoning Ruth Calof at 728-7466.

Dror Habonim youth were active throughout the city in helping boost the sale of tickets for "Here is Israel". Under Hillel Brustin's guidance they canvassed the greater part of the Ottawa Jewish Community and were in large part responsible for the show's sellout audience.

Jack Copelevici has been hired by Machzikei Hadas to head up staff services for teens. Jack, a recent import from Toronto, has just returned from Israel where he participated in a work-study program. He has a strong background in National Council of Synagogue Youth and has numerous ideas which he hopes to implement to involve more of his congregation's, and other Ottawa teens in their community.

Hiking, backpacking and a film night later in October are a few of the upcoming events. Jack is a student at Ottawa University.

Mrs. Carol Silver has been hired as area co-ordinator of the BBYO-AZA and BBG youth groups.

The first program of the season is a Leadership Training Weekend taking place this weekend, from October 14 to 16, in Belleville.

Mrs. Silver has been active in youth work in Montreal and directly involved in B'nai B'rith Women in that city for five years. Mrs. Silver can be reached at the Centre, 232-7306 or at 729-7923. She would welcome enquiries from interested parents or teens.

National Council of Synagogue Youth is holding another of its successful Shabbatons during the weekend of October 28-30, at Dollard des Ormeaux in Quebec.

Shabbaton is a two-day Jewish experience whereby youth between the ages of 14 and 18 from large and small communities throughout eastern Canada get together for an exchange of ideas, for exploration of their Jewish heritage and identity and for informal social contact with Jewish people their own ages from diverse backgrounds. Although sponsored by N.C.S.Y. the Ottawa organizers stress that Shabbaton is open to all Jewish teens, from those actively involved in synagogue activities to individuals who have minimal Jewish contact in their daily lives and are not religiously affiliated. Shabbaton costs include billeting for the two nights, meals, entertainment and a special Saturday night program.

Anyone interested in a two-day meaningful Jewish experience is welcome to come and participate. Those on synagogue mailing lists will be sent additional information; teens who are not on mailing lists but are interested in more specific details of Shabbaton (which were not available before the Bulletin went to press) are asked to call Jack Copelevici or Jonah Libman at 523-6388, Ellie Kardish at 232-4340 or Belinda Angel at 226-3191.

If you or your group would like to publicize upcoming events, individual achievements or other news for teens in our community, contact Gaye Applebaum at 232-7306.

Study Options — Six Sessions — 7:30-8:45 — Oct. 26 - Nov. 30

Judaism, Basic Principles and Practices

This course offers a study of the philosophy and psychology behind many of the Jewish customs and ceremonies. The aim of the course is to examine the underlying principles of Jewish religious practices and customs in order to understand their rationale and impact on the life-style of the Jew. Practices such as brit, bar-mitzvah, marriage, mourning, holy days, prayer, dietary discipline and dress requirements will be studied as part of the structure of Judaism — the organizing principle of a religious and ethnic community.

Given by: Rabbi Roy D. Tanenbaum

Who Is A Jew? Modern History and Jewish Identity

"Who is a Jew?" is a seminar workshop that deals with the question of Jewish group and national identity in modern history. Students will do readings and discuss this issue within the context of the Jewish Emancipation, Socialism and Jewish Nationalism and recent events in Central Europe and the Soviet Union.

Given by: Dr. Yitzhak Rosenberg.

Biblical Answers to Philosophical Dilemmas

The Bible has been viewed as revelation, history and literature. This course treats the Bible as a guide to philosophical dilemmas. Included will be a study of the major religious and philosophical questions that have confronted man from biblical days to the present, such as creation, eternity, reward and punishment and the life-death cycle. How does the Bible deal with these and what relevance do the Scriptures have in the present time?

Given by: Rabbi Saul I. Aranov

Conversational Hebrew

Because of the intense nature of this course, it will be conducted on Monday and Wednesday nights from 7:00 to 8:30 p.m. beginning October 10. A differential fee is charged for this course. Students will be given assignments and expected to follow the course reading list.

Given by: Yael Letkovitch

For Selfless Communal and Civic Service

J.N.F. selects Harold Shenkman as 1977 Negev Dinner Honouree

The officers of the Jewish National Fund announce with pride that Harold Shenkman has been chosen as Negev Dinner honouree in Ottawa. The Negev Dinner is an annual event whereby a community honours an outstanding citizen for service and leadership.

The selection by the Jewish National Fund Council of Harold Shenkman as the 1977 Negev Dinner honouree has won warm approval. Mr. Shenkman was selected in tribute to this inspired leadership, consistent selfless communal and civic service and devoted efforts in humanitarian endeavours.

The Ottawa-born honouree has served Ottawa in a wide array of capacities. He was Chairman of the Building Committee of the Jewish Community Centre and was Vice-President of the Ottawa Jewish Community Endowment and Bequest Foundation.

Harold Shenkman has been a generous supporter of communal agencies, from the United Jewish Appeal, to the Israel Bond Organization, Pioneer Women and National Council of Jewish Women, to the Israeli Soldiers Fund, and Hillel Lodge's Building Fund.

Harold Shenkman

The State of Israel occupies a very special place in Mr. Shenkman's life. He has been a member of several important Canadian study missions to Israel having been received by Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion and Prime Minister Golda Meir. The Jewish National Fund is amongst his foremost interests within the Jewish State. He is one of the One Hundred Canadian Founders of Ilot, a new village in Israel's forbidding Arava region... a Forester of Canada Park, the 7,500 acre recreation area now nearing completion between Jerusalem and Tel Aviv... and recently he became a "Rebuilder of Jerusalem" through support of the exciting new project sponsored jointly by the Municipality of Jerusalem and the Jewish National Fund of Canada.

The dinner will take place at the Jewish Community Centre, on Tuesday, November 15, 151 Chapel Street at 7:00 p.m.; cocktails will be served at 6:15 p.m.

For further information phone Mrs. Shirley Moscovitch at Jewish National Fund Montreal on their toll-free number 1-800-361-8459.

Reservations?

Proceeds of the Negev Dinner will be applied towards furthering the work of the Jewish National Fund in afforestation, land reclamation, irrigation and road building in the Holy Land.

Officials for the Negev Dinner are Gilbert Greenberg, Dinner Chairman; Victor K. Whittaker, Vice-President of Shenkman Corporation Limited as Associate Dinner Chairman; Alex Belcherman, Chairman, Planning Committee and Mrs. Muriel Levine, Chairman, Ottawa JNF Council.

Cash is Crucial

Please Pay Pledges

Many members of our community responded to the Yom Kippur Appeal for Israel bonds by turning down their tab cards and committed themselves to the purchase of Israel Bonds. Many more made their commitments even before the Yom Kippur Appeal.

But a commitment is not a purchase and until paid for and the Bond is issued Israel has no benefit from your commitment. To help Israel increase its export production and reduce its enormous balance of payments deficit — to help the future development of United Jerusalem it is imperative that commitments be turned into cash.

Cash is crucial — you have received a bill for your commitment. Please turn that commitment into a Bond purchase as quickly as possible. Israel needs the cash now! Your immediate payment will help the flow of cash to Israel and help put the nation on the road to economic self-sufficiency.

If you missed turning down your tab card during the Yom Kippur Appeal, it is still not too late to demonstrate your support for Israel. You may make your purchase of Israel Bonds directly at the Israel Bond Office, 163 Charlotte Street, Suite 504, or by calling 236-7139.

It is never too late to help Israel through the purchase of Israel Bonds. Now is the time to complete your purchases. Cash is crucial.

Third Annual Faculty-Students Wine & Cheese Party October 22

The Jewish students union will be holding its Third Annual Wine & Cheese Party for university faculty and students on Saturday evening, October 22.

This annual event gives students the opportunity to meet the faculty who teach on our three campuses and afterwards many have said how good they feel when, on getting into an elevator or walking through a hallway, they are able to identify a member of faculty as Jewish. Some students even felt it made a tremendous difference knowing that professors whose courses they were taking were Jewish. Norma Rothman, Jewish Students Union Co-ordinator, expressed the gratitude of the organizers for the past faculty support of this annual event. She reported that in each of the past two years, sixty to seventy professors have attended with their spouses; the organizers hope to elicit the same response this year.

Any student not on the J.S.U. mailing list who wants to receive an invitation to the party should call Norma Rothman at 231-7499 or 224-1337. An R.S.V.P. is essential to ensure enough wine for all.

OMJS Enrolment Doubles in 5 Yrs.

by Nancy Zalman

"I like to think we're doing something right. We are striving to create a graduate who is a totally rounded Jewish student." Thus Gerry Cammy, Principal, accounts for the steadily rising enrolment at the Ottawa Modern Jewish School. Five years ago the OMJS had 85 students. Today there are approximately 160.

Reasons are multiple for the schools snowballing success.

Even at its conception 25 years ago, the OMJS was determined to be "modern." A dedicated staff with impressive Jewish teaching experience and certificate qualifications works hard to maintain the image of enthusiasm and vitality.

Teachers up to grade three are assisted by para-professionals and remedial teachers. Remedial teachers are also available for grades 4-7 to provide for individual differences, and for the needs of the many children who enter grade 2, 3, 4, or even 5 with little or no previous exposure to Jewish culture, history, or languages. In addition, specialists are brought in as required, such as a child psychologist and a new music consultant.

Even though enrolment continues to increase, class size is maintained at an optimum: last year's swollen enrolment necessitated a split into two classes in grade 1, and this year in grade 2.

The OMJS is run as a cooperative effort. A parent board of directors determines the school's financial, social, and many administrative policies. Its powers are balanced and checked by meetings of the whole membership.

Tuition fees are held to a minimum. The curriculum introduces the spectrum of Jewish tradition, from orthodox to liberal, from basic prayer to song and dance. Scholarships are provided for those with limited means.

Jewish Community Centre Spotlights

Reflections

by Jerry Melman
Executive Director, JCC

How to Stay Solvent

A stroll through the market place of Chelm brought deep furrows to the brow of Lemach and when in the dusk between Afternoon and Evening Prayers, his faithful companions gathered around him in shul, there were deep sighs when he told them what he had seen.

"Yes," he reported, "our merchants are in a bad way. There are far too few customers, and too many competitors. They all sell for less than it costs them. They lose money on everything. The baker on every bagel, the grocer on every pound of onions. The longer they continue, the poorer they become. It has always been so; it was never any better."

A chorus of deep felt "Oys" rose from the circle! But one of the younger ones, somewhat bolder than the others, ventured a question.

"Forgive me," said he, "but if everyday they lose money, how do they stay in business?"

In the silence that followed, you could hear the sage ponder. He turned to the questioner and answered, "My son, your question is a question but you forgot one thing."

"Aha" cried the disciples. "Aha."

"You forgot," the sage continued, "that on Shabbat and holidays the market is shut down . . . so they manage to stay solvent."

Everybody knows that to be solvent you cut expenses and increase income. In today's world, great pressures are placed on institutions and directors to come out at year's end with a balanced budget. However, there comes a time when certain risks must be taken. No time is the right time — nor has it ever been! This has been our history as a nation and a people.

Now is the time to gear up for change. We need a new building. An investment in our future market, which is our own children and our growing Jewish community. What we have has served us well, but competition is strong and costs continue to rise for maintenance of our present out-of-date facilities.

We cannot just sit still and wait for the better times to come, because if you ask some people, they never will.

The only way a Centre can become solvent is to serve the Jewish community with quality programming combined with trained and skilled staff, operating in facilities which allow for growth, accessibility and the special pride that comes from seeing one's investment bear fruit.

For Teens-Adults

Amateur Radio Course

Howard Krakower will be teaching an Amateur Radio Course as part of the Jewish Community Centre fall programming. This course will be held at the Agudath Israel Synagogue, 1400 Coldrey in the West End, on Monday evenings.

An information night has been arranged for Monday, October 24, starting at 7:30 p.m. Howard promises an interesting demonstration, complete with slides.

For further information contact Judith Kizell at 232-7306 or Howard Krakower at 225-5109 in the evening.

JCC Begins Beit Shean In-Volunteer Interviews

Interviews have begun for those who want to spend at least one month working in the developmental town of Beit Shean in Israel. This unique program is open to college age students and above and consists of working at least 5 hours a day in the English language program set up by the city. No Hebrew language knowledge is required for this program.

Arrangements for housing and food are handled by the Jewish Agency and the Department of Immigration.

Miss Margot Andras, representing the Department of Immigration works in Beit Shean and will be visiting Ottawa next month. She wishes to meet with interested persons. For further information concerning this program contact Hillel Brustin, Israeli Shaliach at the Centre or Jerry Melman, Centre Executive.

Babysitting Service Correction

In the September 30 edition of the Ottawa Jewish Bulletin & Review, the Centre's new babysitting service was erroneously advertised as having a charge. The service is free for all women who are members of the Centre or who have enrolled in one of the many morning programs offered.

Mrs. Biba Chernovsky will welcome all children (babies as well) to the games room between 9:15 a.m. and noon, Mondays to Thursdays. Please notify her through the Centre at 232-7306 or at 235-3458 in the evenings if you plan to bring your child in the following morning.

Aliyah Desk Head Here 19-20

Hillel Brustin, the new shaliach at the Centre, has advised that Zvi Levanon, Director of the Aliyah Desk, Montreal, will be in Ottawa on October 19 and 20.

He will be available for interviews between 11:00 a.m. and 6:00 p.m. on the 19th and from 9:00 a.m. until 1:00 p.m. on the 20th.

Anyone interested in information concerning aliyah, special programs for adults, university students or high school summer working tours is welcome to meet with Mr. Levanon. Contact Hillel at 232-7306 for an appointment.

Folkdancing at JCC Tuesdays

Mrs. Merle Adam will be teaching Israeli Folkdance Tuesdays, 7-8:30 p.m. beginning October 11 until November 29.

Fees are members $10; non-members $15.

Class is open to the community.

New Theatre Company Kaleidoscope

Kaleidoscope is a new theatre group sponsored by the JCC. If you are interested in any aspect of theatre, a production is now in the planning stages and needs your help. Please call Myra Abramovitch, after 6, at 733-8783.

Contract Bridge on Tuesdays

Intermediate and advanced bridge players are invited to come to the JCC on Tuesdays, at 8:00 p.m. and enjoy an evening of contract bridge. Membership is free and you may come with or without a partner.

Bridge night will begin October 18.

For further information contact Avril Bright, 563-0017.

YOU CAN BENEFIT.
If you plan to take more than 4 West End Fitness Classes this year, why not save money and take out Centre membership.

Become a Belly Dancer A Fun Way to Firm Up

The mysterious dance of the Near East is unveiled this fall at the Jewish Community Centre by Zahra, instructor and full-time professional dancer. An excellent body conditioner and a beautiful dance form, belly dancing offers women of all ages a fun way to firm up sagging muscles and develop greater positive body awareness while learning to interpret the exciting rhythms of the Near East. Three levels will be offered:

Beginner Course — stresses becoming aware of the body's capabilities through exercises in stretching, flexibility and isolation. Students will learn to use the basic exercise movements to form a simple dance routine.

Classes are held Thursdays, 7:00 - 8:00 p.m.

Intermediate Course — aimed at the more serious student of the dance as an art form. This class will feature intensive practice with finger cymbals, floor work, improvisation, a complete dance routine and costume construction.

Classes are held Thursdays, 5:30 - 6:30 p.m.

Advanced Beginner Course — emphasizes more complex dance movements and introduces the use of finger cymbals and veilwork.

Classes are held Thursdays 8:00 - 9:00 p.m.

Let Zahra teach you the rhythms of the Middle East.

Although the classes started on October 13, there are still a few places left in each, if you register immediately. Each course runs for 10 weeks and is $15.00 for members, $30.00 for non-members. Call the Phys. Ed. department for further information.

Karate Black Belts To Demonstrate Art at JCC Sensei Aarons Hired by Centre

The Jewish Community Centre is pleased to announce a Karate-self-defense course starting in November to be taught by Sensei Brian Aarons, 3rd degree black belt, a Bronze medal winner in Karate at The Maccabiah Games held this past July in Israel. He was captain of the Canadian Karate team.

Sensei Aarons' course is designed to develop a person spiritually and physically in accordance with an individual's potential in terms of age, physique and learning rate. Not only would a self-defence system such as this teach a person how to meet and cope with the never-ending challenges of life; but also it is Sensei Aarons' intention to cull from his classes and prepare aspirants who could qualify to represent Canada at the 11th Maccabiah in 1981. Sensei Aarons' karate accomplishments include some of the following: President of the Shorinjiryu Kenkoku Karate Federation of Canada, Founder of the Dawson College C.E.G.E.P. Karate Club, Past owner of Oriental Combat Club in Verdun and Karate & Judo Nippon Club in Montreal, Pictorial participant in the book "Scientific Karatedo" by Masayuki Hisataka, 8th dan. Karate, Judo, and Meditation Instructor at The National Theatre School for 1974-75.

Competition Record: Bronze Medal (over 80 Kgm.) July 1977 Maccabiah Games, Eastern Coast and Canada Champion 1970, North American Shorinjiryu Champion 1976, 1974; Runner-up 1971, 1972.

Mr. Aarons is 35 years old and resides with his wife and two children in Ottawa. He is a graduate in Psychology from McGill ('69).

Sensei Aarons will present a demonstration on October 23 at 12:30 p.m. Assisting him will be Sensei Alain Hourdebaigt 3rd degree black belt, instructor at R.C.M.P. headquarters and co-author of the book "Scientific Karatedo" with Shihan Masayuki Hisataka.

Ami Hai to Dance for Queen

The Hassidic wedding dance is performed by Ami Hai with much fervour and joy. This is the dance chosen by the company for Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II next Monday.

At the request of the Secretary of State, Ami Hai, Ottawa's resident Jewish-Israeli dance company, has been invited to participate in a 40 minute multicultural presentation before Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II, at a closed performance for Ottawa's schoolchildren Monday, October 17.

The public will be given the opportunity to enjoy the multicultural program which will be repeated in the evening of both October 17 and 18 at the Civic Centre.

Groups from across Canada are being brought to Ottawa for the occasion. Ami Hai, the only local group to perform will lead in several of the ethnic dance troupes whose origins are Central Europe. Ami Hai, in its eighth consecutive year of existence, under the direction of founder-director Sylvia Rosenes, will perform the men's dance from the Hassidic wedding.

During the summer Ami Hai performed both locally and throughout the region, most notably at Kingston and Cornwall. The company participated in Canada Day celebrations July 1 which were televised nationwide.

All works in the present repertoire have been choreographed by Moshiko, the Israeli-born Yemenite who currently resides in New York. He was previously a soloist with Inbal — the Yemenite company of Israel.

Ami Hai has immediate openings for 2 female and 1 male dancers. Any dancer with performing experience can arrange an audition by phoning Sylvia Rosenes at 728-1390.

Rabbi Possick at Young Israel

Jewish Education — The Challenge of the '70's — is the topic for the opening Breakfast Club Meeting of the Young Israel. The guest speaker will be Rabbi David Possick, principal of the Hebrew Academy of Montreal — Rabbi Possick has a long history in Jewish education having served both in large and small communities. He was the founder and principal of the Jewish Day School of Savannah Georgia, and also the Beth Jacob School of Philadelphia, P.A.

Services are 9:00 a.m. with breakfast following at 9:30. The entire community is cordially invited.

Beth Shalom's Ongoing Programs

On Sunday, October 16, Beth Shalom Congregation's "Teen-age Talit and Tefilin" services will commence at 9:00 a.m. The weekly services are followed by breakfast, programs, guest speakers or sports outings to provide a varied program for many interests. Any boy in the community is welcome to join in and participate with others.

Also on October 16, Beth Shalom's Nineteenth Bat Torah Consecration Program will start at 11:00 a.m. All girls aged 12-14 are eligible. Please contact the Synagogue office at 232-3501 if you are interested in joining the girls. The Consecration will take place in June 1978. This activity is open to non-members as well as members as a community service.

A group is being planned for teen-age girls, similar to the Talit and Tefilin. If you are interested please contact the Synagogue office so that they can assess whether there is sufficient interest.

On Tuesday, October 18, Beth Shalom commences its Fall Adult Education classes. From 10:00 to 11:00 a.m. there is a class every Tuesday in "Virtues and Values in Judaism" given by Rabbi Aranov. This is followed by a Class on Prayer, conducted by Cantor Kraus from 11:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon. To register or for further information on any of the above contact the office 232-3501.
